Becker was county judge of Green county when he was arrested by the federal authorities. He was immediately removed from the bench by Gov. E. L. Philipp.

Becker was brought to Madison and arraigned. His triai was held at Eau Clairs. The court found him guilty and sentenced him to serve three years in the federal prison for making a speech at Monroe, Wis., on Feb. 5, 1918, where he is alleged to have said:

BY MRS. ABBIE HELMS.
That the public library is a boon to the many strangers in the city, is shown by the large number of transients who frequent the reading room and the number of cards which are issued to newcomers. A casual visit to the reading room on Saturday afternoon showed that in spite of the fine weather outside, there were at least a dozen people semingly all strangers in the city, enjoying the comfortable room and reading the magazines and papers with which it is supplied.

"Good Housekeeping" is taken for womankind, and circulating copies of most of the periodicals are out, continually. The "Musical Monitor" is taken for the benefit of musicians.

Government Bulletins Kept. Few people know that Government bulletins, Farmer's Bulletins of the state, and those of the agriculture experiment station can be procured at the library. Also information along many lines is available, and it is expected soon that an up-to-date clipping bureau, will be established, where definite data may be secured on many subjects. Help is proffered by the library attendants in finding material for club papers, and they will begrow club papers, and they will borrow books from the State Historical li-brary, from the university or from the traveling library commission, if desired.

Many French women have decided not to worry about the high cost of silk and other hose. Their solution of the problem is to go without stockings. Many American women have adopted the fad in Paris, but have been rather timid about trying it at home. Mile. N. Fregene of Paris, however, recently, arrived on a steamer from France with no such scruples. She is shown here displaying stocking less limbs. less limbs.

Mrs. Relss Gives Address.
Mrs. Peter Relss, Sheboygan, national council member, in an address at the opening session, explained the origin of the order in 1887, shortly after Margaret Bottome of New York, returned from abroad., On the ship with her had been boys travelling alone, one of whom had died without any kindly administrations. When Miss Bottome heard of this without any kindly administrations. When Miss Bottome heard of this she asked the captain why he had not called her, whereupon he replied that he had approached one woman only to be refused. Miss Bottome only to be retused. Miss bottome then decided to draw a hand of women together who should serve unostentational order, which is particularly strong in the east, has been the result. Mrs. L. A. MUNICIPAL COSTS INCREASED GENERALLY. Cost of city government has increased in every municipality so far reporting or coming under the attention of the Gazette. Madison has inegeased its budget $719,774.23 or more than $200,000 of an increase over the whole budget proposed for Janesville. The total budget for that city, about twice the size of Janesville, is $3,142,026, or six times the cost of conducting the affairs of Janesville. Salaries alone take nearly a million dollars.

But of all the cities of the United States, New York seems to be in the most distressing financial condition. It will take $530,000,000 to meet the city's obligations for 1921. This is a sum far in excess of the ability of the city to raise money by taxation or bonds. The city has a debt of over a billion dollars and a tax rate of $3.38 for city purposes alone is considered. A riot of expense only equalled by that of the government of the United States during the war, has followed the last administration in the nation's largest city. It is not the money that is spent on the necessities of city government, but the waste that takes the large

New York is under a government of multiple boards and commissions without a directing head having targe authority, and has been going deeper and deeper into both debt and extravagance The day will come when no city will be governed in the slipshed manner so general now. Men devote large amounts of time to the city's business without adequate compensation in most of the smaller cities, Were it not for personal political ambitions and petty local politics, every city would have the manager plan, with a responsible head, and eliminate waste to the last

Janesville will some day wake to the necessity of the plan and place its municipal business on the same plane that a private corporation would There are 20,000 stockholders in the Janesville corporation and all that about 19,000 ever do is to kick on what is done after it is accomplished. With a city manager and regular reports made to the members of the carporate body, the citizens would be able to place responsibility at once. Wherever the manager plan has been tried, there we have a better city government than where it is conducted on the aldermanic and board plan. The difficulty is to get the manager, but there are such men available. It is time to begin to think about it here, though Janesville is more fortunate than many of her sister cities.

In the Janesville budget to be presented to the council on Friday night for action there will be an increase of the expenses of the city of only $22,000 as compared with 1920, based on the rate of last year and the assessed new valuation of property. The total budget provides for $518,000 for the city, and it may be said that it is the most business-like document on appropriations presented to the council and provided for the people in the city's history. It is detailed so that runds for definite objects will be used for the purpose intended and there will not be a constant raid on the general fund which has ever forces. To the Democrats the slogan "Turn the been a temptation to extravagance and expendibeen a temptation to extravagance and expenditures that might well be refused.

In placing $30,000 in the budget for the tion and disposal of garbage and for the health department a new departure has been made which means much for the city of Janesville in the coming year. It means that the garbage question will ing year. It means that the garbage question will be settled by a regular, sanitary collection, and by disposal in an efficient manner. While the sum is not as large as was asked by the health board which had gone into the matter with great care, in consideration of the many demands for the in consideration of the many demands for the city funds, and in the interest of a tax rate that will not be excessive, the amount provided will go far toward making a clean, healthful city. GREAT ENROLLMENT OF THE NIGHT SCHOOL.

One of the signs of the times and a matter for congratulation is the unexpectedly heavy enroll-ment of students at the night vocational school and in the day classes as well. Superintendent Rorrans may well be pleased, and to him and his carnestness much of the success of the school is due. The classes will aid materially in solving the future of many a young man and young woman. Its need is certainly most distinctly emphasized by the result of the first night's enroll-

Presidential Campaigns

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN XIV. THE HAYES-TILDEN RACE OF 1876. Washington, D. C., Oct. 6.—With the inauguration of Rutherford B. Hayes as President of the United States in 1877 the eleven years Reign of Terror in the southern states came to an end. Vident anarchy, supported by bayonets of the United States troops, and utter defiance of law by the Government at Washington, brought Mr. Hayes to the Presidency. Be it said to his everlasting credit that he did despise the bridge that carried him over and that he restored free government in the states of the South.

The Hayes inauguration marked the end of the Washington, D. C., Oct. 6 .- With the inauguraernment in the states of the South.

The Hayes inauguration marked the end of the most furiously fought polltical and political-legal contest this country has ever seen. To begin with, only eleven years had elapsed since the end of the Civil War, and the Democratic party was accused by every Republican orator of a desire to restore the dead Confederacy. Against this charge the Democrats pleaded their loyalty to the flag and sent Democratic Union generals over the country, spell-binding. Fires of partisaniship burned florcely, and while they, added to the heat of the campaign, other factors decided its outcome.

The panic of 1873 had plunged the country into financial distress and business depression such to financial distress and business depression such as it had not known before. Jay Gould was teaching Wall Street some tricks that have not been wholly forgotten. The difference in value between the greenback and the gold dollar was the basis of the mildest speculation, in which the "common people" invariably got the worst end of the bargain. These business conditions caused the people to want a change for the sake of a change. The Tilden Democracy promised the resumption of specie payments and an end to business.

The scandals of the Grant administration, which had resulted in the Greeley defection of 1872, had increased instead of diminished. The famous "Whiskey Ring" had been exposed, and a scapegoat or two was on the way to the positional a scape-goat or two was on the way to the positional are Socretary of War, Belknap, was impeached, and escaped conviction only by resigning under fire. Said the Democratic platform the work of fire. Said the Democratic platform, the work of Tilden and Watterson:

"When the armals of the Republic show the disgrace and consure of a Vice President; a late. Speaker of the House of Representatives market. ng his rulings as a presiding officer; three Senaing his rulings as a presiding officer; three Senators profiting scenetive by their votes as law-makers; five chairman of the leading committees of the House of Representatives exposed in jobbery; a late Secretary of the Treasury forsing balances in the public accounts; a late Attorney-General misappropriating public funds; a Secretary of the Navy enriched or enriching friends by percentages levied off the profits of contractors with his department; an ambassador to England censured in a dishodorable speculation; the President's pri-

partment; an ambassador to England censured in a dishonorable speculation; the President's private secretary barely escaping conviction upon trial for guilty complicity in frauds upon the revenue; a Secretary of War impeached for high crimes and misdemeanors—the demonstration is complete that the first step in reform must be the people's choice of honest men from another party, lest the disease of one political organization infect the body politic, and lest, by making no change the body politic, and lest, by making no change of men or parties, we get no change of measures and no real reform."

Upon this line the Democrats fought their batthe. It is useless, perhaps, to go muck-raking into the past to tell of these scandals in particular; let it suffice to say that neither before nor single in the history of the country has the taint of grade been so naisons at the past to the pas been so noisome at the seat of the Federal Gov ernment.

The Democrats nominated Samuel J. Tilden for President, after a sharp but unequal contest in which Thomas A. Hendricks of Indiana was his leading opponent. Eendricks was named for Vice

The Republicans met at Cincinnati. James G. Blaine was the general favorite for the nomination, and but for the chicanery of the administration would have been selected. Blaine had already become the popular idol of the Republicans. He was placed in nomination at Cincinnation the control of the favore. by the eloquent Robert G. Ingersoll in the famou speech which gave Blaine the name of "The Plumed night." On the first ballot Rutherford B. Hayes, ex-Governor of Ohio, stood fifth. His col-orless, although lameless record caused him to be selected as the favorite dark horse, and he rescreeted as the layoute dark hoise, and he re-ceived the nomination on the seventh ballot, al-though Blaine had more votes than on any other cal machine ever known in the country up to that lime, he had run Boss Tweed out of the country and he was the hero of the good Government

There was another factor in the campaign which had its effect. One of the chief causes of "Down's the Liberal Republican bolt of 1872 was the fear lines a cothat General Grant was too much of a military man to sympathize with elvii government. Hayes was held up by the Republicans as absolutely pure and holy, a man who would clean the Augean stables at Washington if they needed cleaning, which the Republicans firmly declined to admit.

Kate Chase Sprague, according to the open gossip of the time, persuaded him to change his mind. Thus she was revenged on fillen for the defeat of her father, Chief Justice Salmon P. Chase, for the Democratic nomination in 1868.

Hayes was given the decision on March 2, two days before Grant's term expired. The country, which had given a popular majority of a quarter of a million yotes to Tilden, was indignant, but there was no resistance. Hayes had hardly taken hold of the duties of his office before the country realized that he would be liberal. He took the country has ever known.

THE TEETH AND ARTHRITIS IN CHILDREN

THE TEETH AND ARTI

Dentists, like all other progressive artists, cordially disagree on some of the fundamentals of their art. A thoroughly trained and experienced dentist asserts that every carlous or in decayed "baby" tooth (primary) should be either filled or extracted and that this precaution in keeping and skill insists that it is better not to extract the primary teth, even though they may be horselessly decayed, for if they are extracted the development of the jaw is impaired and the secondary teeth will be uneven and more subject to trouble. When gompetent dentists disagree, no physician may decide, save by a toss-up. But there are other possible considerations which may have weight on the radical side. If the child is normal in general nourishment and growth and free from any indication of systemic trouble from the septic condition of the mouth, perhaps it may be safe to permit the decayed teeth to remain, provided they cannot be filled. But if the child's health is in any way impaired and the physician be vives the oral sepsis responsible, they extraction of the decayed teeth is surely the lesser of two evils. A form of long-enduring joint disease in children, vulgarly called "rheumatism" and cruelly termed arthritis deformans (or by compromise "rheumatoid arthritis"), has been frequently charged up against bad teeth and in about half of such cases the wholesale extraction of the condemned teeth has proved markedly beneficial, the other half showing no improvement.

I have described in this department the close contact between the last molar teeth and the tonsils and pointed out the frequent association of infected tonsils in childhood with decayed moiar teeth. The removal of tonsils on suspicion is a different problem from the extraction of teeth on a spicion, for the tonsils serve no physiological purpose, certainly not wh Dr. Albert H. Byfield, discussing the subject in the American Journal of Discuses of Children, attributes the joint discuse to long smouldering infection in the tonsils and adenoids and the accessory sinuses of the massicavity. He believes that the infection is limited to the tonsils and adenoids up to the age of three years, but after that age the removal of the tonsils and adenoids is ineffective in arresting the progress of the joint trouble. A massi sinus infection may be suspected if there is slight fever leukocytosis (as shown by blood count), or impaired appetite persisting after the removal of tonsils and adenoids. Surgical treatment of the infected nasal stituses would be required in such circumstances. QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Left-Handedness.

Is it proper to send a child to school at the age of 5% years? Should I allow her to use her left hand for writing if she prefers to? (Mrs. A. W.)

ANSWER—Depends on the conditions at school. If the children are not required to sit prim and act like old maids, it is all right. If ancient schoolroom decorum is enforced better wait until she is 7. In my opinion natural left-handedness should never be discouraged.

Good Springs.

What springs in this country are considered hest for a bad case of rheumatism? (E. R.)

ANSWER—In my own judgment it is immaterial. That is, I know no reason why mineral water should be more heneficial than tap water for any disease. Sometimes tap water, if you drink enough, is mighty good medicine for whatever alis you.

28" Birthday Sale Continues

Large crowds of eager buyers attended the first day of our 28th Annual Birthday Sale.

If the first day of any event may be taken as a guide to judging its success, then we may well proclaim, our sale wonderfully successful. The crowds were larger than we really expected, and it's not surprising after all. People know pretty well how difficult it has been for us to obtain new merchandise and to be able to offer it at such moderate prices. Such price reductions as we are now making deserve the extra special consideration of every thrifty person and should induce you to make many trips to the store.

From our viewpoint this sale is of extreme importance and should be frequently attended by all who wish to save—and save substantially.

Collins descrived the home "e—and the coin they paid him. He is playing his tweifth season for Comiskey and has given the club 100 percent of his services and heart every season. Outfield, second, short or first, no matter where they put John, he played his best. Most of the time he outfielded.

Last spring when Gandil decided to rain the American league by quitting the league the Sox fans did wonder a bit who'd play first. John, reliable John, drew the pill and his fielding and batting has been all that the hardest knockers could ask.

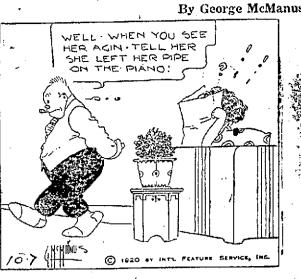

Collins was born in Charlestown Mass. on May 2, 1887. He started with Haverhill in the New England league in 1907. He was with Springled in the Connecticut league in 1909 when the White Sox scouts got sweet on him. He was signed at the close of the season. Thirty thousand dollars will be appropriated in the 1921 budget to pay for installing and operation of a city garbage collection system, according to plans informally agreed board of heaith, council finance committee, Mayor T. E. Welsh and Ald.

If this is added to the budget when councilmen adopt it Friday night, it will make the levy run ever the $500,000 mark, or 65 percent higher, than 1920. The proposed budget now totals $508,055.46 without ally provision made for extending ornamental lighting system, comfort station, city pian, or other improvements. Should the proposed budget be adopted with a $16,000 appropriation for lights added, it would make the tax rate $1.70 per hundred against $1.61 in 1920.

It was informally agreed to abandon plans for having horses and wagons for garbage collection and to substitute a few trucks.

Refund of a sum amounting to about $8,000 is asked by the Chamber of Commerce from the city for expenditures informing a city plan. When the chamber started the work, it is slated, it was with the undergarding that the city would share

When the chamber started the work, it is stated, it was with the understanding that the city would share at least half of the expense and perhaps all of it. The information gathered together with maps are now said to be used exclusively by the city officials. The chamber has asked that the city council include this sum in its budget for 1920.
